

FLORIDA MASTER NATURALIST PROJECT CONCLUSION

We just finished an exciting adventure as part of the Florida Master Naturalist Program and we can't think of a better group to share this with.

Our goal was to re-establish Zebra Longwings into the St. Sebastian River State Park. Here are a couple of pictures to show the process:

Planted Passiflora corky stem in upland habitat, next to a canal similar to a woody edge with some shade.

The plants were raised by us in our butterfly house and had eggs, caterpillars and chrysalis on them when they were planted in the State Park.

...and some chrysalis

Now...what we hope to find when we return next season, is what we found today at a preserve not too far away from this site...which amazed us...OUR FIRST ROOST IN THE WILD...

WOW!
